Athlete student Mohamed Ibrahim of Egypt, who finished 4th in the UIPM 2023 Pentathlon Junior World Championships, said: “The course has been an enriching experience. It provides a deep dive into key areas such as sports governance, marketing and event management, blending theoretical knowledge with practical insights.

“The interactive lectures and real-world case studies have been particularly valuable, allowing us to apply what we learn in a practical context. I highly recommend this course to anyone looking to advance their career in sports management. The expert faculty and networking opportunities make it an excellent choice for aspiring sports professionals.”

The PGCert Programme is fully online and self-paced, with six modules that can be completed in one to five years. Modular learning enables students to take individual modules to complement existing skills or fulfil specific roles. And as this is a globally recognised qualification, credits from the certificate can be applied toward a Masters degree.

To enrol, applicants must meet one of the following criteria:

- An undergraduate degree from an acceptable institution.

- At least 5 years of relevant work experience in sports management.

- Other qualifications, such as professional awards, may be considered.

Additionally, applicants must have access to a computer and the internet, and be able to demonstrate a certain level of English language ability. More requirements and application documents are available here.
